

The Symbolic Act of disengagement of the British Community

The constitution and ways of working of the British Community (BC) may be set up by a small number of people to begin with.

At a period from probably 5 to 10 years after its Foundation, as decided by its Assembly, the BC will set up a procedure to reappraise this initial configuration, and disconnect from it, re-establishing anew its Foundations.

In a Symbolic Act of disengagement from these initial structures, it will disallow membership of those it designates as the founders of these to its administrative structure and to membership of the Assembly.
