

It is me

In meadows where the cricket sings
The fox laps water from a stream.
From flowers honey bees alight
The nectared fields of glorious day.

The lion stalks the antelope.
In sparkling lakes flamingos bathe.

In seascapes skimmed by dolphin schools,
The coral reefs that teem with life,
The starfish lapped by breaking waves
And ice-caps of the world declare
My love created all its forms.

I am with you. I am with you now.